

Kurodoko

An web app for playing both Kurodoko and Ohno, which is also available under <https://kurodoko.xyz>.

Usage

In order to simply execute the application the Docker utility `docker-compose` can be used (from the terminal in the current directory):

docker-compose -f docker-compose.yml.hub up

this will first download the prebuilt Docker Images and then run the application, such that the game is playable in the browser via the url <http://localhost:4444>. The application can be stopped using `Ctrl+C` and the containers can be removed using `docker-compose -f docker-compose.yml.hub down`.

The application can be built from source by using the command `docker-compose up` in the current directory. This will first build the application from source (which may take some time) and then make it available under <http://localhost:4444/> in your web browser. Using `Ctrl+C` the the application can be stopped.
